

Water, Water, Water!

We've had record dry conditions, so it's very important to keep watering.

- It's extremely important to water correctly and thoroughly before the ground freezes completely.
- Critically at-risk plants include all evergreens as well as newly planted trees and shrubs or perennials.
- Watering during winter months when ground is not frozen is crucial.
- How much you water and how often is VERY IMPORTANT.
- Additional winter protection can be provided by applying an anti-dessicant to broadleaf evergreens.
